

How to Choose the Best Companion Plants for Hydrangeas (Step-by-Step Guide)

1. 📌 Understand growing conditions: Hydrangeas thrive in partial shade and moist, well-drained soil. Choose companions that share these preferences.
2. 🎨 Consider colour and texture: Pair hydrangeas with plants like hostas, astilbes, or heucheras to create contrast in leaf shape and flower colour.
3. 🕒 Plan for seasonal interest: Select plants that bloom before or after hydrangeas to extend visual appeal throughout the year.
4. 🦋 Attract pollinators: Include native flowering plants like echinacea or rudbeckia to support bees and butterflies.
5. ❌ Avoid poor matches: Steer clear of sun-loving or drought-tolerant plants like lavender, which can struggle near hydrangeas.
6. 🌿 Design smartly: Use taller plants behind and low-growing varieties in front of hydrangeas for layered, balanced borders.
7. 🧪 Test soil compatibility: Use a soil test to check pH and fertility. Choose companions that align with your garden's conditions.
8. 🔄 Maintain harmony: Prune, water, and fertilise consistently to keep all plants thriving together without overcrowding.
